

TradeZero America, Inc.

2026 BUSINESS CONTINUITY PLAN

(BCP)

INTRODUCTION

TradeZero America, Inc. (the “Firm”), has developed this Business Continuity Plan (“BCP” or “Plan”) to assist both Designated Supervisors and all relevant associated persons in understanding and executing their respective responsibilities and duties to the Firm, to the self-regulatory organization of which the Firm is a member, to the investment community at large, and specifically and most importantly, to its clients who have placed their trust in the Firm and its ability to conduct itself consistent with just and equitable principles of trade.

The obligation to develop a BCP is not a ‘one-size-fits-all’ requirement, and the Firm must tailor its Plan to fit its own particular situation, resources and business types. All quoted language contained in this BCP as may be included from time to time, may be taken from Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”), or Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (“FINRA”) laws, rules and/or regulations, as the case may be. In most cases, however, information gleaned from the laws, rules and regulations was extrapolated and made more concise for inclusion in this Plan.

GENERAL COMPLIANCE ANALYSIS

FINRA Rule 4370 – General Requirements

FINRA Rule 4370 requires that the Firm create and maintain this written BCP identifying procedures relating to an emergency or significant business disruption. Within reason, this Plan must be designed to enable the Firm to meet its existing obligations to clients. This Plan must address our relationship with other broker-dealers, including our clearing firm, and counter-parties. This Plan shall be available at all times and delivered “promptly” to FINRA staff upon request.

The Firm is required to update this Plan periodically in the event of any material change to our operations, structure, business or location. The Firm shall also conduct an annual review of this Plan to determine whether any modifications are necessary.

While the Plan should be flexible enough to address issues specific to the Firm, it must also address the following items, which are listed and required in and by Rule 4370, to the extent they are applicable and necessary to the Firm’s conduct of business. The Firm must document its rationale for not including any of the categories below:

1. Data back-up and recovery (hard copy and electronic);
2. All mission critical systems;
3. Financial and operational assessments;
4. Alternate communications between clients and the Firm;
5. Alternate communications between the Firm and its employees;
6. Alternate physical locations of employees;

7. Critical business constituent, bank, and counter-party impact;
8. Regulatory reporting;
9. Communications with regulators; and
10. How the Firm will assure clients' prompt access to their funds and securities in the event that the member determines that it is unable to continue its business. Because the Firm is an introducing broker, it shall rely on its clearing firm's business continuity Plan for addressing a number of the above listed categories. Our relationship is addressed below.

BCP Disclosure Requirement

The Firm shall send its disclosure to any client who so requests. The Firm is required to designate a General Securities Principal who is also a member of our senior management team to approve this Plan. This person shall be responsible for conducting the required annual review.

FINRA Rule 4370

The Firm's response to an external SBD relies more heavily on other organizations and systems, especially on the capabilities of our clearing firm.

FINRA Rules 4370(c)(3), (c)(8), (f)(2) & (g)(2). The Firm shall describe procedures to identify changes in its operational and financial risk exposures in the event of a SBD. The Firm should periodically assess the changes in the above, and quickly make such an assessment in connection with a SBD. Operational risk includes the Firm's ability to maintain communications with clients and to retrieve key activity records through its mission critical systems. Financial risk involves the Firm's ability to fund operations and maintain adequate financing and sufficient capital.

Operational Risk

Should an SBD occur, the Firm will immediately identify what measures to take that will permit the Firm to communicate with our clients, employees, all critical third-parties, and regulators. The intensity of the SBD will determine the methods of alternative communication. The Firm could currently employ the following communications options: telephone voice mail, secure e-mail. In addition, the Firm could retrieve its key activity records as described in the section above, Data Back-Up and Recovery (Hard Copy and Electronic).

Financial Risk

assets to evaluate its ability to continue to fund operations and remain in capital compliance. The Firm will contact its clearing firm, critical banks, and investors to apprise them of the Firm's financial status. If the Firm determines that it may be unable to meet its obligations to those counter-parties or otherwise continue to fund its operations, it will request additional financing from its bank or other credit sources to fulfill its obligations to its clients. If the Firm cannot remedy a capital deficiency, it will file appropriate notices with our regulators and immediately take appropriate steps to provide clients with alternate methods of conducting their securities transactions.

MISSION CRITICAL SYSTEMS

Specific Compliance

FINRA Rules 4370(c)(7) & (g)(1).

The Firm shall describe its mission critical systems and whether it or its clearing firm has responsibility for them. The Firm shall review its clearing firm's capabilities to perform their mission critical functions for the Firm. The Firm shall focus on the recovery of mission critical systems after a SBD and the time it takes to resume active communications with the Firm's clients. The Firm shall include order execution in the list of mission critical systems that its clearing firm provides to the Firm.

Introduction/Explanation

The Firm's "mission critical systems" are those that maintain:

1. Prompt and accurate processing of securities transactions, which include:
 - a. Order taking, and
 - b. Entry
 - c. Execution,
 - d. Comparison,
 - e. Allocation. And
 - f. Clearance and settlement of securities transactions.
2. Customer accounts
3. Access to customer accounts; and
4. The delivery of funds and securities.

These systems include:

Order taking and entry software

The Firm has primary responsibility for establishing and maintaining our business relationships with our clients and has sole responsibility for our mission critical functions of order taking and entry. The Firm's third party execution platform provides, through contract, the execution of securities transactions. The Firm's clearing firm provides, through contract, the comparison, allocation, clearance and settlement as well as the maintenance of customer accounts, access to customer accounts, and the delivery of funds and securities.

The Firm's clearing firm contract provides that it will maintain a business continuity Plan and the capacity to execute that Plan. If the Firm can reasonably determine that its clearing firm has not or cannot put its Plan in place quickly enough to meet Firm needs, or is otherwise unable to provide access to such services, it represents that it will assist the Firm in seeking services from an alternative source. The severity and timing of a SBD and its effect on the Firm's critical infrastructure—particularly telecommunications—can affect actual recovery times. Recovery refers to the restoration of clearing and settlement activities after a wide-scale disruption; resumption refers to the capacity to accept and process new transactions and payments after a wide-scale disruption. The Firm's clearing firm shall inform the Firm of its SBD recovery time and resumption objectives.

Order Taking

The Firm receives orders from customers via telephone and e-mail by the customer. During a SBD, the Firm will continue to take orders through whichever of these methods are available and reliable, and, when possible, will inform clients when alternative communications become available to assist the client in processing their orders as expeditiously as possible. If necessary, the Firm will advise clients to place orders directly with the Firm's clearing firm.

Order Entry

Currently, the Firm enters orders by recording them electronically and sends them to our clearing firm electronically or telephonically. In the event of an internal SBD, the Firm will enter and send records to its clearing firm by the fastest alternative means available, which include electronic means. In the event of an external SBD, the Firm will maintain the order in electronic or paper format, and deliver the order to the clearing firm by the fastest means available when it resumes operations. In addition, during an internal SBD, the Firm may need to refer clients to deal directly with the clearing firm for order entry.

Mission Critical Systems Provided by Clearing Firm

The Firm relies on its clearing firm, via its clearing agreement, to provide order comparison, order allocation, and the maintenance of customer accounts, delivery of funds and securities, and access to customer accounts.
